

FIGHT ON STREET HAS APPEARANCE OF RIOT

Police Have Hard Tussle Landing Young Men in Lockup

INTERFERENCE CLAIMED

Four Arrests Made in All and Others May be Secured—Hearing Held

Starting from the arrest of one young man charged with insulting women, what had every appearance of a small riot raged in front of the lockup Wednesday evening and resulted in four arrests. Those apprehended and placed in cells were Ben Kiefer, "Bones" Matson, James Gelder and Robert McCurry. Gelder who is a well known traveling salesman for a meat firm, was the only one of the number to place a forfeit, and he was released.

Patrolman George McEldowney placed Kiefer under arrest. It is claimed the latter was making himself offensive to women passing along McKean avenue. He was brought to the lockup, bitterly arraigning Patrolman McEldowney and the police force, as he was being brought up street. A crowd collected.

When McEldowney came out of the lockup after placing Kiefer in a cell, it is said Matson took up the side of Kiefer with the result that Police-man McEldowney attempted to place him under arrest. Matson started to fight and Chief of Police C. W. Albright went to the aid of McEldowney. Struggling and fighting like a demon this young man, apparently a little the worse for drink, was subdued and locked up.

Meanwhile a big crowd collected. Some took it upon themselves to berate the police, and it is said that McCurry used some offensive language. He was told to keep still by Councilman C. O. Frye, it is stated, and when the latter was helping push the battling Matson inside the lockup door, McCurry struck Councilman Frye a glancing blow on the shoulder. Matson was placed in a cell and Chief Albright then turned his attention to McCurry, who fled. It is said that James Gelder refused to keep quiet and move on when ordered by the police, who were endeavor-

Engine Rams Into Caboose

Small Wreck Ties up Traffic for Awhile This Morning at Monongahela

When in the fog at about 7 o'clock this morning an engine running light rammed into the caboose of a coke train at Monongahela the caboose was wrecked and traffic was tied up for a time. It is said a misunderstanding of the block signals, not clearly distinguishable in the dense fog led to the collision. No one was hurt and it did not take long to clear the tracks. The entire damage is in wrecking of the caboose.

THIEVES OPERATE AT DEPOT

Ticket and Freight Office Windows Broken Open

NO VALUABLES STOLEN

As the climax to a period of disorder and excitement lasting many hours, the Charleroi freight office and the ticket office of the Pennsylvania railroad were broken open this morning. Apparently on the search only of money or valuables which could be readily transferred into cash, the burglars did not disturb freight or other articles. A knife, date stamp, a bag of chestnuts and an apple were taken from the ticket office and so far as can be learned nothing was taken from the freight office.

A pane of the office window at the freight station was broken open after the screen had been taken off. Whether the burglars managed to get clear in before being disturbed is a question. The window was still locked this morning. At the ticket office the same procedure was gone through, a rear window being broken and unlocked. No arrests have been made.

MONONGAHELA VALLEY MINERS INTERESTED IN DEMONSTRATION

Program is Completed for Test to be Made at Pittsburg Next Week—Mines Will be Closed Down for Day

Final arrangements for the National mine safety demonstration, which will open in Pittsburg next Monday and Tuesday under the auspices of the bureau of mines, the American Red Cross society and the Pittsburg Coal Operators' association, indicate that the event will be unparalleled in history. It will be a monster demonstration of worldwide interest.

President Taft will be the guest of honor and with him will come Secretary of the Interior Fisher, of whose department the bureau of mines is a part, Governors of many States and a score of mine representatives. There will be 1,500 or more experts mining engineers some of them from European countries; more than 3,000 representatives of mine and mining interests, an great number of representatives of the miners' organization representing more than 30,000 of their fellow workers.

On Monday, the first day of the meet, demonstrations in the interests of mine safety and mine rescue will be given. On Tuesday more than 50 first-aid teams from all parts of the country will contest in first-class tactics for trophies. Dr. J. M. Shields, chief of the field department of the Red Cross society, will be in charge at 8 o'clock. He will be met by a reception committee including Senator George T. Oliver, Representatives James F. Burke, John Dalzell, A. J. Barchfield and S. G. Porter, Mayor Contesting teams from Tacoma, Magee, Director Holmes of the bureau Wash., and Dawson, Mex., arrived yesterday, and practiced last evening at Arsenal park. On Monday the demonstration will be conducted at Arsenal park from 9 to 12 o'clock in the morning. In the afternoon the field of operation will be removed to Bruceton, where the Government has the only experimental mine in the world. Special trains will be run to Bruceton.

A real explosion which perhaps may wreck the experimental mine, is on the program for Monday afternoon. A realistic exhibition of rescue work will follow the explosion.

On Tuesday other explosions will be made at Forbes field where a big steel gallery is now being erected by the bureau of mines. President Taft, Governor Tener and the other distinguished guests will witness these experiments, and the rescue work to follow by the first-aid teams. Practically every country will be represented at the meet. Senor Abraham Ferriz will represent Mexico; Dr. Eugene Honnell, director of the bureau of mines of Canada, will represent that country; M. de Puligny, chief of the bureau of mines of France, is on his way here and Francis J. Yanes will represent the Pan-American Union.

Secretary Fisher will arrive on Monday morning. President Taft will get in Pittsburg on Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock. He will be met by a re-

With the thermometers hovering around the freezing point, local people are getting heaters and stoves in operation. Wednesday morning there was 32 degrees registered and this morning's temperature was about the same.

WOMAN SAID TO BE ILL OF DIPHTHERIA FAINTS ON STREET

Ill from diphtheria, it is stated Miss Margaret Walker, 20 years old, the daughter of W. G. Walker of Maple Creek, fainted on the street Wednesday noon. The young woman with her mother had been to a local physician's office and was on her way home. At the corner of Fifth street and Fallowfield avenue, while waiting for her mother to return from a brief trip to a nearby store, she suddenly dropped to the ground. A crowd collected and the young woman was taken home in an automobile.

WOMAN IS ACCUSED OF CRIME

Forcible Entry Charged Against Monongahela Woman

PLACED IN COUNTY JAIL

"The terrible" Margaret Will, of Monongahela, said to be a terror in that town, was lodged in jail at Washington Wednesday to await trial at the November term of court on the charges of forcible entry and detainer, having been unable to raise the bail of $200, which was fixed by Alderman A. R. Day, of Monongahela, before whom she had a hearing on charges preferred by her divorced husband.

Constable Nelson Luker conveyed Margaret to jail, and from reports, had to resort to strategy to accomplish his task. Mrs. Will was not informed, it is said, of her destination on leaving Monongahela, for fear she would become obstreperous and refuse to make the trip. She is a big woman, and, it is said, can create considerable trouble if she desires.

Before boarding the car in Monongahela, it is said that Margaret conceived the idea that the street would be a good place to sit down and rest and it was with considerable difficulty that she was persuaded that such conduct would seem unbecoming on the part of a lady of her social standing.

Monongahelian Pleads Guilty to Involuntary Manslaughter

KILLED JOSHUA WYETH

Allegheny County Judge Imposes Sentence Upon Erring Young Man

Upon advice of his counsel, Vernon Hazzard, Esq., John W. Sarver, Jr., of Monongahela pleaded guilty to involuntary manslaughter in the Allegheny county court at Pittsburg Wednesday. He was charged with the killing of Joshua Wyeth also of Monongahela on October 6. Judge Marshall Brown sentenced Sarver to serve one year in jail.

This affair was the climax of a series of orgies habitually carried on by the so-called notorious "Alcohol Gang" of Monongahela, the most of whom are now languishing in the Washington county jail, serving sentences imposed by a local magistrate. Sarver, who is 22 years of age, was with Wyeth and a number of others on the Allegheny county side of the river and were making merry over the contents of a keg of beer and a half gallon jug of whiskey. An altercation arose between Sarver and Wyeth and several blows were struck, witnesses stating that Wyeth struck first. Sarver hit him in the eye with his fist blackening his eye and cutting a slight gash in the skin, and after drinking a glass of beer, Wyeth lay down on the grass on the hillside and went to sleep. He lapsed into unconsciousness from a cerebral hemorrhage and died in the Memorial hospital at Monongahela two days later.

LAW AND ORDER.

The spectacle yesterday evening of
a turbulent crowd on the streets berating and interfering with the police in the discharge of their duty was
one that is not a credit to the town.
Happily the police were able to handle
the situation through the support and assistance of citizens, and the force have the unqualified support of not only council, but of all law abiding citizens of the town.

Because an offender puts up a fight, resists arrest and is badly handled by the police, is no reason for a display
of sympathy on the part of spectators.
This is too often given an offender because he is apparently given the worst of the deal in his efforts to assert his individual supremacy over the law. The police are maligned and cursed, for using undue violence, when
in most instances they are exercising
a degree of tolerance that a civilian under the same circumstances would not think of doing. By giving utterance to public expressions of disapproval of the action of officials, and
sympathy for the offender, a dangerous sentiment is oftentimes created in a turbulent crowd that may lead to a riot. It is this action that leads to mob violence, which is a blot on American civilization.

It is every good citizen's duty to uphold the police officers in the discharge of their duty. If the latter are derelict, there is a proper time
and place to file a protest—not in public where there is danger of inciting riot. As the chief of police told a citizen last evening if he had any testimony to give to defer it and appear at the burgess' office, where he would be given ample opportunity to make himself heard. In quelling the possibility of further trouble the police acted wholly within their province.
The mob spirit—for that was what developed in the disorder last evening—should be promptly put down,
and the police are to be commended

WOMAN SUFFRAGE GAINS

California is the sixth State to grant full suffrage to women, says the New York Times. The first State in the Union to take this step was Wyoming, in 1869. There was no other addition to the States where women might vote until 1893, when Colorado granted them the franchise. In 1893 two States, Utah and Idaho, passed suffrage amendments to their constitutions. The State of Washington had a vote on the question at the election of 1910, and gave the vote to women, although the measure had been twice defeated in that State in 1889
and again in 1898—once by 1,900 and later by 9,000.

The State of Kansas will submit the
question to its voters this fall, a resolution having passed both houses of the State Legislature last February calling for a popular vote on the suffrage amendment. In that State women have enjoyed the right to vote on public school questions since 1861,
eight years before Wyoming gave women universal suffrage. Municipal suffrage was granted in 1887, and
"bond suffrage" in 1903. The Legislature of Kansas defeated a resolution granting full suffrage in 1909.

At the election of 1910, when Washington voted in favor of women suffrage, the proposal was defeated in the neighboring State of Oregon. It was also lost on the same day in South Dakota and Oklahoma. The constitutional conventions of both Arizona and New Mexico were urged to insert the suffrage provision, but in both cases it was voted down.

School suffrage for women exists
in 29 States, from New Hampshire to Washington. These States are Arizona, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana,
Idaho, Kansas, Michigan, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Mississippi, Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Dakota,
Oklahoma, Ohio, South Dakota, Utah, Vermont, Washington, Wyoming and Wisconsin.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

A young fellow about town preparatory to calling on his best girl the other evening found his stock of collars rather low, so he stepped into a furnishing supply store and purchased some new ones. When he came to dress for the call he found one of the new collars he selected had the buttonhole torn or cut out. He tried another, and found it the same, likewise all the rest in the purchase. It was too late to go back to the store to change them, so he had to wear an old collar with an edge like a rip saw, and make the best of the situation.

The thought that the haberdasher had "soaked him" in working off a lot of damaged collars on him was galling, and it spoiled the evening
for him. The next morning he could hardly wait until the store was open before he was back with the collars.

"Here!" he exclaimed, throwing the package down on the counter, "the next time you fellows want to do any funny business don't pick me out for a 'simp'."

"What's the matter?" asked the proprietor, who happened to be in.

"Why, you sold me a bunch of damaged collars with the buttonholes torn out. I wouldn't have thought anything about it if it had only been one collar, but here the whole bunch is the same. Looks as if you couldn't help but know it."

The proprietor looked the collars
over, then grinned and said:

"Don't you know that these are the notched collars, the latest and best thing in the collar line? Works all right. Did you try them?"

The young man admitted that he hadn't and was glad to learn that there was something new every day
or two.

"One of the most unique experiences I ever had in a business way occurred some years ago," said a well-known business man of the community. "I rented a store room, which was scarcely habitable, and when the landlord refused to fix it up or make any repairs whatever, I started in, and before I was through I had to expend $250 to make the room
suitable at all for business purposes.
Then to add insult to injury, I received notice that my rent would be increased $5 a month. The improvements, the landlord considered, made
the room that much more desirable.
"I made a big kick, and finally settled by the landlord allowing for the repairs, but I had to pay the increased rent as long as I stood in the room."

White Heron in New Jersey.
Local naturalists and bird lovers are interested in a number of white heron
which are making their headquarters
at Avis' Pond, Woodstown, N. J., about a mile from town. The birds
were first noticed about a week ago.
These are the birds from which alig-species is feared because the aligettes can be obtained only when the bird is raising its young, and its death at the hands of the hunter also means starvation of the young heron.

It seems that a lawyer is something of a carpenter. He can file a bill, split a hair, chop logic, dovetail an argument, make an entry, get up a case, frame an indictment, impanel a jury, put them in a box, nail a witness, hammer a judge, bore a court, shave a note, "grind an axe," chisel a client, and other like things.

ing to quell the turbulent crowd, many of whom were open sympathizers of the prisoners. Gelder was hastily yanked inside the lockup by Chief Albright and Policeman McEldowney. This act put a damper on the fighting enthusiasm of some of the more arrogant members of the crowd who were inclined to make trouble. McCurry was later arrested by Patrolman Gust Brickner and locked up.

In making the arrests it was a noticeable fact that the police did not strike a blow with their maces, but used other methods to subdue the troublesome spirits. It is stated that others who are claimed to have given open sympathy to the prisoners and to have interfered with the police, will be arrested.

James Gelder received his hearing before Burgess George W. Risbeck this morning. Evidence was taken and according to the decision of Burgess Risbeck he was guilty of disturbing the peace. He was fined $10 and costs or $11.85 which he paid with the statement that he would take an appeal.

SPEERS

A masquerade party, held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Frye at Twilight, proved a very enjoyable affair to the 40 young people who attended.

Friday, the little folks will enjoy the pleasures of a masquerade party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Beam.

A little detective work was done by the janitor of the Speers M. E. church recently in response to some hints that the church was being used for other than religious services. Early in the morning the janitor observed two forms emerging from a side window, and further investigation revealed strewed on the floor several miscellaneous articles that only the up-to-date fashion plate could utilize.

V. S. Cook and Fred Collins were visitors at Bentleyville Sunday.

Miss Leola Frye spent Sunday with her friend, Miss Kathryn Collins.

A Halloween party will be given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Leathers of Donora Tuesday, October 31. The Ladies Aid Society of Speers have been invited to attend.

Thos. J. Collins and family of Cokesburg are visiting friends and relatives in this vicinity.

ODD WAYS OF THE COMMONS

Illustrated by the Imminent Peril of Mr. Pearce, Who Read Newspaper During Session.

A member of the British parliament remarks in London Opinion that the rules of the house of commons are past all understanding, and then proceeds to cite the case of Mr. Pearce, M. P., and the imminent danger in which he one day appeared to be. This was when the sergeant-at-arms, with his terrible sword in hand, rose from his chair and rushed with cyclonic speed in the direction of the mild, meek and altogether unconscious-offense member. It was quickly made clear what was the cause of this hasty saber charge by the sergeant. Mr. Pearce had actually been reading a newspaper, and there is no more heinous offense known to parliament. The members when in the chamber are not permitted to read newspapers for any purpose not immediately connected with the debate actually in progress, though one may succeed in doing it surreptitiously by folding the newspaper small and concealing it behind the order paper of the day, much like a boy may nibble at an apple in school, concealing the pippin behind his spelling book. Yet more gross breaches of parliamentary etiquette and decorum may be seen, members even wearing their hats when a fellow member is addressing the house, and even the dearest friends of an orator may go to sleep while he is delivering his choicest periods.

LIVERY STABLE STOCK IN VENICE!

If a man of ordinary intelligence were approached by an affable stranger and urged to buy stock in a livery stable in Venice, he would in all likelihood feel insulted. He would have reason to be, for such an offer would be a reflection on his intelligence.

It is along lines like this that some business men advertise.

For instance: A clothier has a line of suits near the end of the season that he desires to close out. He advertises them at a sharp reduction. Compared with what he paid for them and what he sold them for at the opening of the season, they are a bargain. The public does not want the suits at that particular time at any price, and the clothier, not getting the results, makes a deduction that advertising doesn't pay, and ceases to advertise.

In the meantime the big department store in the nearest city is flooding the newspapers with cuts and descriptions of nifty ties, collars, marked down shirts that are good at any time, seasonable underwear at special prices that is needed to fill in between times.

The local dealer is disappointed because people won't buy stock in a livery stable in Venice; and loses the sale of other stocks that might be practicable.

The department store in the city gets the trade because it knows that the ordinary person has no use for something he does not need at that particular time.

The business man who never gets advertising to produce results are the Micawbers of trade—always waiting for something to turn up. The man who knows how to advertise, and tries to sell the people something they want, WHEN THEY WANT IT and not to unload what he doesn't want—turns something up.

Other addresses were made by Harry A. Jones, Esq., of Washington, Prothonotary H.F. Ward, and Richard G. Miller, candidate for district attorney. WAITING AT THE CHURCH BUT FOR VARIOUS REASONS

Found waiting at the church, a foreigner with a name that has to be sneezed to be pronounced, was placed under arrest this morning by Chief of Police Albright. The man was found on the steps of the Methodist Episcopal church. He was feeling a trifle devotional at the time but the condition came it is stated from a veridicality in booze rather than from a desire to be religious. He was locked up until he could become sober.

SALESLADIES ARE ENTERTAINED AT MASQUERADE PARTY

The force of salesladies and milliners of J. W. Berryman and Son's store were entertained Wednesday evening by Miss Minnie Porter at a masquerade party held at her home on Washington avenue. All went masked, and there were all sorts of costumes, ranging from the grotesque to the fine old costumes of early periods. Entertainment was furnished by various games. Fortune telling games were features. A number went attired as ghosts and every member of the group was required to tell a ghost story. An appetizing supper was served.

The Quickest Way to Rest.

Do you know how to rest? A very busy man I know takes 20 minutes every day to lie flat on his back on the floor to rest and relax. That is very good, but I have found an even better way, which is to lie flat on the floor with legs up to the knees resting on a chair. This changes the entire circulation, and is the quickest way to rest. Try it. When you lie down to rest at night, and the mind insists upon working, try to relax thoroughly. Turn the thought to the weight of your body; think your hands heavy; keep the thought on the weight of your hands until the nerves tingle as if the hands were going to sleep. If you can feel that tingling sensation you have shown the power of relaxation of the hands. Think different members of the body heavy, until you can let go every nerve as if the entire body were so much jelly ready to melt on the bed. This requires practice, but it pays richly. To rest the eyes and make them bright, while lying down have them bandaged with a soft black silk handkerchief. This was advice received from an eminent eye specialist. --Harper's Bazar.

The thimble of plain sewing was invented in the year 1684 by a gallant young Dutch goldsmith of Amsterdam, who devised the "thumb-bell"---for this was its original name---in order to protect his sweetheart's thumb tips when she was engaged with a needle and cotton. The "thumb bell" has, however, become a "finger-bell," but in shape only little change has taken place in it since the loving Hans placed the first thimble on the thumb of this lady love.

INSECTS HARMFUL TO MAN

Most of Them Are Worse Than Useful and Should Be Killed at Sight.

Our instinct to kill insects at sight is perfectly sound, writes Dr. Woods Hutchinson. Out of the quarter of a million species now known to science, a mere handful are even remotely helpful to man, and most of these only by their power of living upon other and more dangerous insects. On the other hand, thousands of species are actively hostile to man, to his food plants and to his domestic animals. Whole tribes have been swept out of existence by the attack of insects carrying bacilli---as within the last two decades, in central Africa, by the dread "sleeping sickness" carried by the tsetse fly. Whole nations have been weakened and crippled and whole civilizations retarded by another insect-borne disease, malaria.

Indeed, recent investigators have advanced the theory that the historic decline of both Greece and Rome was largely due to the ravages of this disease, brought into Europe by armies returning from wars in Asia and Africa. It may yet come, when we see things in their true perspective, that the warriors of civilized nations will turn from slaughtering one another to battling against our insect enemies.

Turn ever: battery of artillery in the world against that angel of the pestilence, the common house fly, and in ten years he would be exterminated, root and branch. With him would go half of our 50,000 deaths in the United States every year from the summer diseases of children, two-thirds of our dysenteries and cholera morbus, and one-fourth of our typhoid, with not a little of our tuberculosis, our tetanus and our boils and blood poisonings.

As He Understood It.

A Chinese boy, who was learning English, came across the passage in his Testament, "We have piped unto you, and ye have not danced," rendered it thus: "We have toot, toot to you, what the matter you no jump."

DID MOSES MAKE MISTAKE?

First Chapter of Genesis Conforms in Many Instances With Late Discoveries in Science.

We have often heard "the mistakes of Moses" in the first chapter of Genesis commented upon, but what especially strikes us in that chapter is not its contraventions of science, but its harmonies with late discoveries. How did the writer, many centuries before the story of the rocks had been deciphered, know that there was a beginning and then a pause before life appeared on the earth? Who taught the writer that the earth was "without form and void" before it was divided into continents? How came it that the long delayed, slow emergence of land should be set forth as it is? Was it mere guesswork that prompted the writer to say grasses were created before animals, and not for animals already existent? Is it a happy accident that life in the water appears before life upon the land? And ages before the scientist dreamed of paleontology we find man last in the series just as he appears today by his remains in the drift instead of in the stratified rocks? Further investigation may explain discrepancies, but what except inspiration can account for these coincidences?---The Advance.

MOUNTAIN GOAT A NUISANCE

Annoy Alaskan Miners by Getting Into Their Tunnels and Eating Their Location Stakes.

Miners in Mineral Gulch, Alaska, are having considerable trouble with mountain goats.

During stormy weather the goats crowd into the tunnels that are being driven on the claims well up on the mountains, and it is only by throwing a dynamite cartridge into the tunnels in the morning that they can be driven out and the contractors get in to go to work.

It is also stated that they are likely to be the cause of considerable litigation among mine owners next year, as they have destroyed a number of location stakes by eating them.

Owing to the fact that alder and willow comprise the only wood in the gulch, nearly all the location stakes are of these woods, which, in the absence of other food, the goats attack eagerly.

A great many of the animals have been killed by the men at work in the gulch, but the number seems to increase rather than diminish.

Salt on French Roads.

As a general rule, the roads in and around French towns are tarred at the commencement of the summer in order to abate the dust nuisance. It has, however, been found that tar, although excellent in the case of macadamized roads, is of little or no value where car lines exist and paved street crossings intersect the roads in every direction, as tarring cannot be carried out on stones.

The authorities, basing their action on the well-known hygienic properties of common salt, have made a test of its value in laying the dust. Twenty yards of roadway have been sprinkled liberally with salt and then watered freely. If the results are satisfactory, salt will be used throughout the town of Havre, it being impossible to tar the majority of the streets, as they are paved with rough stone blocks.

Police Have Hard Tussle Landing Young Men in Lockup

INTERFERENCE CLAIMED

Four Arrests Made in All and Others May be Secured--Hearing Held

Starting from the arrest of one young man charged with insulting women, what had every appearance of a small riot raged in front of the lockup Wednesday evening and resulted in four arrests. Those apprehended and placed in cells were Ben Kiefer, "Bones" Matson, James Gelder and Robert McCurry. Gelder who is a well known traveling salesman for a meat firm, was the only one of the number to place a forfeit, and he was released.

Patrolman George McElDowney placed Kiefer under arrest. It is claimed the latter was making himself offensive to women passing along McKean avenue. He was brought to the lockup, bitterly arraigning Patrolman McElDowney and the police force, as he was being brought up street. A crowd collected.

When McElDowney came out of the lockup after placing Kiefer in a cell, it is said Matson took up the side of Kiefer with the result that Police man McElDowney attempted to place him under arrest. Matson started to fight and Chief of Police C. W. Albright went to the aid of McElDowney. Struggling and fighting like a demon this young man, apparently a little the worse for drink, was subdued and locked up.

Meanwhile a big crowd collected. Some took it upon themselves to berate the police, and it is said that McCurry used some offensive language. He was told to keep still by Councilman C. O. Frye, it is stated, and when the latter was helping push the battling Matson inside the lockup door. McCurry struck Councilman Frye a glancing blow on the shoulder. Matson was placed in a cell and Chief Albright then turned his attention to McCurry, who fled. It is said that James Gelder refused to keep quiet and move on when ordered by the police, who were endeavor-

Small Wreck Ties up Traffic for Awhile This Morning at Monongahela

When in the fog at about 7 o'clock this morning an engine running light rammed into the caboose of a coke train at Monongahela the caboose was wrecked and traffic was tied up for a time. It is said a misunderstanding of the block signals, not clearly distinguishable in the dense fog led to the collision. No one was hurt and it did not take long to clear the tracks. The entire damage is in wrecking of the caboose.

Ticket and Freight Office Windows Broken Open

As the climax to a period of disorder and excitement lasting many hours, the Charleroi freight office and the ticket office of the Pennsylvania railroad were broken open this morning. Apparently on the search only of money or valuables which could be readily transferred into cash, the burglars did not disturb freight or other articles. A knife, date stamp, a bag of chestnuts and an apple were taken from the ticket office and so far as can be learned nothing was taken from the freight office.

A pane of the office window at the freight station was broken open after the screen had been taken off. Whether the burglars managed to get clear in before being disturbed is a question. The window was still locked this morning. At the ticket office the same procedure was gone through, a rear window being broken and unlocked. No arrests have been made.

Program is Completed for Test to be Made at Pittsburg Next Week--Mines Will be Closed Down for Day

Final arrangements for the National mine safety demonstration, which will open in Pittsburg next morning and Tuesday under the auspices of the bureau of mines, the American Red Cross society and the Pittsburg Coal Operators' association, indicate that the event will be unparalleled in history. It will be a monster demonstration of worldwide interest.

President Taft will be the guest of honor and with him will come Secretary of the Interior Fisher, of whose department the bureau of mines is a part. Governors of many States and a score of mine representatives. There will be 1,500 or more experts mining engineers some of them from European countries; more than 3,000 representatives of mine and mining interests, an great number of representatives of the miners' organization representing more than 30,000 of their fellow workers.

On Monday, the first day of the meet, demonstrations in the interests of mine safety and mine rescue will be given. On Tuesday more than 50 first-aid teams from all parts of the country will contest in first-class tactics for trophies. Dr. J. M. Shields, chief of the field department of the Red Cross society, will be in charge of the meet. The National Red Cross is in Pittsburg for the meet, and today other rescue cars with their first-aid teams are expected to arrive. Contesting teams from Tacoma, Wash., and Dawson, Mex., arrived yesterday, and practiced last evening at Arsenal park.

On Monday the demonstration will be conducted at Arsenal park from 9 to 12 o'clock in the morning. In the afternoon the field operation will be removed to Bruceton, where the Government has the only experimental mine in the world. Special trains will be run to Bruceton.

A real explosion which perhaps may wreck the experimental mine, is on the program for Monday afternoon. A realistic exhibition of rescue work will follow the explosion.

On Tuesday other explosions will be made at Forbes field where a big steel gallery is now being erected by the bureau of mines. President Taft, Governor Tener and the other distinguished guests will witness these experiments, and the rescue work to follow by the first-aid teams. Practically every country will be represented at the meet. Senator Abraham Ferris will represent Mexico; Dr. Eugene Honnell, director of the bureau of mines of Canada, will represent that country; M. de Puligny, chief of the bureau of mines of France, is on his way here and Francis J. Yanes will represent the Pan-American Union.

Secretary Fisher will arrive on Monday morning. President Taft will get in Pittsburg on Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock. He will be met by a reception committee including Senator George T. Oliver. Representatives of James F. Burke, John D. Zell, A. J. Barchfield and S. G. Porter, Mayor Magee, Director Holmes of the bureau of mines; F. R. Babcock, president of the Chamber of Commerce and W. H. Stevenson, president of the Historical society.

TEMPERATURE AT FREEZING POINT

Atmosphere Decidedly Chilly These Mornings--Fires Are Started

With the thermometers hovering around the freezing point, local people are getting heaters and stoves in operation. Possibly the lowest official temperature recorded thus far this fall was on Tuesday morning, when at Lock No 4 the mercury descended to 31 degrees. Wednesday morning there was 32 degrees registered and this morning's temperature was about the same.

WOMAN SAID TO BE ILL OF DIPHTHERIA FAINTS ON STREET

Ill from diphtheria, it is stated Miss Margaret Walker, 20 years old, the daughter of W. G. Walker of Maple Creek, fainted on the street Wednesday noon. The young woman with her mother had been to a local physician's office and was on her way home. At the corner of Fifth street and Fallowfield avenue, while waiting for her mother to return from a brief trip to a nearby store, she suddenly dropped to the ground. A crowd collected and the young woman was taken home in an automobile.

Socialist Makes Address. Samuel W. Ball made an address on the subject "Socialism a Cure for Sick Society," Wednesday evening at the corner of Fallowfield avenue and Fifth street. He was listened to by quite a large crowd. During the address he was subjected to some interruptions, and Chief of Police Albright was appealed to, who speedily quieted the disturbers.

Forcible Entry Charged Against Monongahela Woman

"The terrible" Margaret Will, of Monongahela, said to be a terror in that town, was lodged in jail at Washington Wednesday to await trial at the November term of court on the charges of forcible entry and detainer having been unable to raise the bail of $200, which was fixed by Alderman A. R. Day, of Monongahela, before whom she had a hearing on charges preferred by her divorced husband.

Constable Nelson Luker conveyed Margaret to jail, and from reports, had to resort to strategy to accomplish his task. Mrs. Will was not informed, it is said, of her destination on leaving Monongahela, for fear she would become obstreperous and refuse to make the trip. She is a big woman, and it is said, can create considerable trouble if she desires.

Before boarding the car in Monongahela, it is said that Margaret conceived the idea that the street would be a good place to sit down and rest and it was with considerable difficulty that she was persuaded that such conduct would seem unbecoming on the part of a lady of her social standing.

KILLED JOSHUA WYETH

Upon advice of his counsel, Vernon Hazzard, Esq., John W. Sarver, Jr., of Monongahela pleaded guilty to involuntary manslaughter in the Allegheny county court at Pittsburg Wednesday. He was charged with the killing of Joshua Wyeth also of Monongahela on October 6. Judge Marshall Brown sentenced Sarver to serve one year in jail.

This affair was the climax of a series of orgies habitually carried on by the so-called notorious "Alcohol Gang" of Monongahela, the most of whom are now languishing in the Washington county jail, serving sentences imposed by a local magistrate. Sarver, who is 22 years of age, was with Wyeth and a number of others on the Allegheny county side of the river and were making merry over the contents of a keg of beer and a half gallon jug of whiskey. An altercation arose between Sarver and Wyeth and several blows were struck, witnesses stating that Wyeth struck first. Sarver hit him in the eye with his fist blackening his eye and cutting a slight gash in the skin, and after drinking a glass of beer, Wyeth lay down on the grass on the hillside and went to sleep. He lapsed into unconsciousness from a cerebral hemorrhage and died in the Memorial hospital at Monongahela two days later.

Thanks Chief of Police.

To the Editor of the Charleroi Mail: Sir--That any trouble of any kind should arise at a public meeting, no matter by whom held, is always to be regretted. LAW AND ORDER.

The spectacle yesterday evening of
a turbulent crowd on the streets be-
rating and interfering with the police in the discharge of their duty was
one that is not a credit to the town.
Happily the police were able to handle
the situation through the support and
assistance of citizens, and the force
have the unqualified support of not
only council, but of all law abiding
citizens of the town.

Because an offender puts on a fight,
resists arrest and is badly handled by
the police, is no reason for a display
of sympathy on the part of spectators.
This is too often given an offender because he is apparently given the worst of the deal in his efforts to assert his individual supremacy over
the law. The police are maligned and cursed for using undue violence, when
in most instances they are exercising
a degree of tolerance that a civilian
under the same circumstances would
not think of doing. By giving utterance to public expressions of dis-
approval of the action of officials, and
sympathy for the offender, a dangerous sentiment is oftentimes created in a turbulent crowd that may lead to a riot. It is this action that leads to mob violence, which is a blot on American civilization.

It is every good citizen's duty to uphold the police officers in the discharge of their duty. If the latter
are derelict, there is a proper time
and place to file a protest—not in public where there is danger of inciting riot. As the chief of police told
a citizen last evening if he had any
testimony to give to defer it and appear at the burgess' office, where he
would be given ample opportunity to make himself heard. In quelling the possibility of further trouble the police acted wholly within their province.
The mob spirit—for that was what
developed in the disorder last evening—should be promptly put down,
and the police are to be commended

California is the sixth State to
grant full suffrage to women, says the New York Times. The first State to the Union to take this step was Wyoming, in 1869. There was no other
addition to the States where women might vote until 1893, when Colo. ad-granted them the franchise. In 1896
two States, Utah and Idaho, passed
suffrage amendments to their constitutions. The State of Washington
had a vote on the question at the election of 1910, and gave the vote to women, although the measure had been
twice defeated in that State in 1889
and again in 1898—once by 1,900 and
later by 9,000.

The State of Kansas will submit the
question to its voters this fall, a resolution having passed both houses of
the State Legislature last February calling for a popular vote on the suffrage amendment. In that State women have enjoyed the right to vote on
public school questions since 1861,
eight years before Wyoming gave
women universal suffrage. Municipal suffrage was granted in 1887, and
"bond suffrage" in 1903. The Legislature of Kansas defeated a resolution
granting full suffrage in 1909.

At the election of 1910, when Washington voted in favor of women suffrage, the proposal was defeated in
the neighboring State of Oregon. It was also lost on the same day in South Dakota and Oklahoma. The constitutional conventions of both Arizona
and New Mexico were urged to insert the suffrage provision, but in
both cases it was voted down.

School suffrage for women exists
in 29 States, from New Hampshire to Washington. These States are Arizona, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana,
Idaho, Kansas, Michigan, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Mississippi, Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Dakota,
Oklahoma, Ohio, South Dakota, Utah,
Vermont, Washington, Wyoming and Wisconsin.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

A young fellow about town preparatory to calling on his best girl the
other evening found his stock of collars rather low, so he stepped into a
furnishing supply store and purchased
some new ones. When he came to
dress for the call he found one of the
new collars he selected had the buttonhole torn or cut out. He tried another, and found it the same, likewise all the rest in the purchase. It was too late to go back to the store to
change them, so he had to wear an old
collar with an edge like a rip saw, and
make the best of the situation.

The thought that the haberdasher had "soaked him" in working off a lot of damaged collars on him was
galling, and it spoiled the evening
for him. The next morning he could hardly wait until the store was open
before he was back with the collars.

"Here!" he exclaimed, throwing
the package down on the counter, "the
next time you fellows want to do any funny business don't pick me out for a 'simpl'."

"What's the matter?" asked the
proprietor, who happened to be in.

"Why, you sold me a bunch of
damaged collars with the buttonholes
torn out. I wouldn't have thought anything about it if it had only been
one collar, but here the whole bunch is
the same. Looks as if you couldn't help but know it."

The proprietor looked the collars
over, then grinned and said:

"Don't you know that these are the
notched collars, the latest and best
thing in the collar line? Works all right. Did you try them?"

The young man admitted that he
hadn't and was glad to learn that there was something new every day
or two.

"One of the most unique experiences I ever had in a business way occurred some years ago," said a well-known business man of the community. "I rented a store room,
which was scarcely habitable, and
when the landlord refused to fix it up or make any repairs whatever, I went to the expense myself. I started in, and before I was through I had
to expend $250 to make the room
suitable at all for business purposes.
Then to add insult to injury, I received notice that my rent would be increased $5 a month. The improvements, the landlord considered, made
the room that much more desirable.
"I made a big kick, and finally settled by the landlord allowing for the
repairs, but I had to pay the increased
rent as long as I stood in the room."

White Heron in New Jersey.
Local naturalists and bird lovers are interested in a number of white heron
which are making their headquarters
at Avis' Pond, Woodstown, N. J.,
about a mile from town. The birds
were first noticed about a week ago.
These are the birds from which al-grettes are obtained. Extinction of the species is feared because the aligrettes
can be obtained only when the bird
is raising its young, and its death at
the hands of the hunter also means
starvation of the young heron.

The Rent Sheepskin.
The president of a college near Boston tells me that he received today a letter, the writer of which, a graduate, asked for a second diploma. He said that he had been engaged but that he and the lady of his choice had a falling out. The lady showed her displeasure by tearing his diploma into bits. "I am afraid," said the president, "he will have to go through life minus his diploma, but with a certified copy."—Boston Record.

Passing of the Label.
Suit cases and trunks of returning travelers are pasted over this year with relatively few of the hotel labels which have long been the particular is that the European hotels propriefavor of picture cards, with which they supply their guests.—Youth's

Apt Description of Bigot.
The celebrated John Foster thus described a bigot: "He sees religion, not as a sphere, but as a line, and it is a line in which he is moving. He is like an American buffalo—sees right forward, but nothing to the right or left. He would not perceive a legion of angels or devils at a distance of Coachman Had to Earn Bequest.

riage accident when he is the driver."

New Idea in Judicial Lore.
The suggestion of a French judge, is that when young people become engaged an agreement to marry should be drawn up with a clause providing damages if it is broken.

ing to quell the turbulent crowd, many of whom were open sympathizers of the prisoners. Gelder was hastily yanked inside the lockup by Chief Albright and Policeman McEldowney. This act put a damper on the fighting enthusiasm of some of the more arrogant members of the crowd who were inclined to make trouble. McCurry was later arrested by Patrolman Gust Brickner and locked up.

In making the arrests it was a noticeable fact that the police did not strike a blow with their maces, but used other methods to subdue the troublesome spirits. It is stated that others who are claimed to have given open sympathy to the prisoners and to have interfered with the police, will be arrested.

James Gelder received his hearing before Burgess George W. Risbeck this morning. Evidence was taken and according to the decision of Burgess Risbeck he was guilty of disturbing the peace. He was fined $10 and costs or $11.85 which he paid with the statement that he would take an appeal.

SPEERS

A masquerade party, held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Frye at Twilight, proved a very enjoyable affair to the 40 young people who attended.

Friday, the little folks will enjoy the pleasures of a masquerade party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Beam.

A little detective work was done by the janitor of the Speers M E church recently in response to some hints that the church was being used for other than religious services. Early in the morning the janitor observed two forms emerging from a side window, and further investigation revealed strewed on the floor several miscellaneous articles that only the up-to-date fashion plate could utilize.

V. S. Cook and Fred Collins were visitors at Bendleyville Sunday.

Miss Leola Frye spent Sunday with her friend, Miss Kathryn Collins.

A Halloween party will be given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Leathers of Donora Tuesday, October 31. The Ladies Aid Society of Speers have been invited to attend.

Thos J Collins and family of Cokesburg are visiting friends and relatives in this vicinity.

ODD WAYS OF THE COMMONS

Illustrated by the Imminent Peril of Mr. Pearce, Who Read Newspaper During Session.

A member of the British parliament remarks in London Opinion that the rules of the house of commons are past all understanding, and then proceeds to cite the case of Mr. Pearce, M. P., and the imminent danger in which he one day appeared to be. This was when the sergeant-at-arms, with his terrible sword in hand, rose from his chair and rushed with cyclonic speed in the direction of the mild meek and altogether unconscious-offense member. It was quickly made clear what was the cause of this hasty saber charge by the sergeant. Mr. Pearce had actually been reading a newspaper, and there is no more heinous offense known to parliament. The members when in the chamber are not permitted to read newspapers for any purpose not immediately connected with the debate actually in progress, though one may succeed in doing it surreptitiously by folding the newspaper small and concealing it behind the order paper of the day, much like a boy may nibble at an apple in school, concealing the pippin behind his spelling book. Yet more gross breaches of parliamentary etiquette and decorum may be seen members even wearing their hats when a fellow member is addressing the house, and even the dearest friends of an orator may go to sleep while he is delivering his choicest periods.

LIVERY STABLE STOCK IN VENICE!

If a man of ordinary intelligence were approached by an affable stranger and urged to buy stock in a livery stable in Venice, he would in all likelihood feel insulted. He would have reason to be, for such an offer would be a reflection on his intelligence.

It is along lines like this that some business men advertise.

For instance: A clothier has a line of suits near the end of the season that he desires to close out. He advertises them at a sharp reduction. Compared with what he paid for them and what he sold them for at the opening of the season, they are a bargain. The public does not want the suits at that particular time at any price, and the clothier, not getting the results, makes a deduction that advertising doesn't pay, and ceases to advertise.

In the meantime the big department store in the nearest city is flooding the newspapers with cuts and descriptions of nifty ties, collars, marked down shirts that are good at any time, seasonable underwear at special prices that is needed to fill in between times.

The local dealer is disappointed because people won't buy stock in a livery stable in Venice; and loses the sale of other stocks that might be practicable.

The department store in the city gets the trade because it knows that the ordinary person has no use for something he does not need at that particular time.

The business man who never gets advertising to produce results are the Micawbers of trade—always waiting for something to turn up. The man who knows how to advertise, and tries to sell the people something they want, WHEN THEY WANT IT and not to unload what he doesn't want—turns something up.

Man's Complex Makeup
The average man in health has the material for 13 pounds of candles, one pound of nails, carbon sufficient for 800 pencils, bindings for 16 octavo books, 500 knife handles, 28 violin strings, 20 teaspoonfuls salt and one pound of loaf sugar.

Facts as to Air's Movements.
The movement of air is variously designated, according to its velocity, as a zephyr, breeze, wind, gale or hurricane. A dense or thick fog, according to the weather bureau obscures objects at a distance of 1,000 feet.

Legal Qualifications.
It seems that a lawyer is something of a carpenter. He can file a bill, split a hair, chop logic, dovetail an argument, make an entry, get up a case, frame an indictment, impale a jury, put them in a box, nail a witness, hammer a judge, bore a court, shave a note, "grind an axe," chisel a client, and other like things.

Daily Reminder.
No better day than this on which to follow Walt Whitman's example to loaf and invite your soul, provided your soul will accept the invitation. At least you can loaf.

HOLD RALLY AT BURGETTSTOWN

Republican Spellbinder Hard at Work in Northern End of County

A rousing rally was held at Burgettstown Wednesday evening by the Republican crowd of candidates and spellbinders who are conducting a "speaking campaign" over the county. Over 350 voters were present in the auditorium hall, and the chief address was made by "Uncle Banks" Holland, member of Assembly from Washington county. W. Craig Lee, a prominent Crosscreek Republican, officiated as chairman.

Other addresses were made by Harry A. Jones, Esq., of Washington, Prothonotary H.F. Ward, and Richard G. Miller, candidate for district attorney. The party expects to reach Hickory tonight and hold a meeting at that point. They are meting with an enthusiastic reception, and an engagement on every hand.

The Keystone-Democrats have a meeting scheduled tonight at Claysville. John H. Murdock, candidate for sheriff, B. F. Mery, R. W. Knox, and Osborne Mitchell are announced as speakers.

WAITING AT THE CHURCH BUT FOR VARIOUS REASONS

Found waiting at the church, a foreigner with a name that has to be sneezed to be pronounced, was placed under arrest this morning by Chief of Police Albright. The man was found on the steps of the Methodist Episcopal church. He was feeling a trifle devotional at the time but the condition came it is stated from a veridical indulgence in booze rather than from a desire to be religious. He was locked up until he could become sober.

The force of salesladies and milliners of J. W. Berryman and Son's store were entertained Wednesday evening by Miss Minnie Porter at a masquerade party held at her home on Washington avenue. All went masked, and there were all sorts of costumes, ranging from the grotesque to the fine old costumes of early periods. Entertainment was furnished by various games. Fortune telling games were features. A number went attired as ghosts and every member of the group was required to tell a ghost story. An appetizing supper was served.

Quietly and without any previous announcement of their intentions Miss Charlotte Cottle daughter of Mr. and Charlotte Cottle daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. The wedding came as a surprise to the friends of the happy couple, who nevertheless hastened to extend their congratulations and best wishes. Both are popular young people among a large circle of friends and acquaintances. They will likely reside at Belle Vernon.

Miss Mary Lambert and Mr. and Mrs. John Crouse were called to Monessen Wednesday by the death of a near relative.

The Quickest Way to Rest.
Do you know how to rest? A very busy man I know takes 20 minutes every day to lie flat on his back on the floor to rest and relax. That is very good, but I have found an even better way, which is to lie flat on the floor with legs up to the knees resting on a chair. This changes the entire circulation, and is the quickest way to rest. Try it. When you lie down to rest at night, and the mind insists upon working, try to relax thoroughly. Turn the thought to the weight of your body; think your hands heavy; keep the thought on the weight of your hands until the nerves tingle as if the hands were going to sleep. If you can feel that tingling sensation you have shown the power of relaxation of the hands. Think different members of the body heavy, until you can let go every nerve as if the entire body were so much jelly ready to melt on the bed. This requires practice, but it pays richly. To rest the eyes and make them bright while lying down have them bandaged with a soft black silk handkerchief. This was advice received from an eminent eye specialist. --Harper's Bazar.

Life's Three Questions.
The three great questions of life are, "Is it right or wrong? Is it true or false? Is it beautiful or ugly?" These our education should help us to answer, and in so much as it fails it will lack in reaching a proper physical and moral standard. When the college girl returns to her home, whether it be her parents' or her own, her college training should have fitted her to answer these questions in relation to the fundamental needs of life, in food, clothing, and shelter. This education I believe the teachings of home economics to give. General culture not alone means the capacity to understand and appreciate, but to react on the resources and problems of modern civilization, and these problems in the large mean the preservation of health, the prompting of physical vigor, and the material well-being of the race. --Harper's Bazar.

Nature's Law.
For everything you have missed, you have gained something else; and for everything you gain, you lose something. --Emerson.

Enthusiasm Before All.
Every good and commanding movement in the annals of the world is the triumph of enthusiasm. Nothing great was ever accomplished without it. --Emerson.

DID MOSES MAKE MISTAKE?

First Chapter of Genesis Conforms in Many Instances With Late Discoveries in Science.

We have often heard "the mistakes of Moses" in the first chapter of Genesis commented upon, but what especially strikes us in that chapter is not its contraventions of science, but its harmonies with late discoveries. How did the writer, many centuries before the story of the rocks had been deciphered, know that there was a beginning and then a pause before life appeared on the earth? Who taught the writer that the earth was "without form and void" before it was divided into continents? How came it that the long delayed, slow emergence of land should be set forth as it is? Was it mere guesswork that prompted the writer to say grasses were created before animals, and not for animals already existent? Is it a happy accident that life in the water appears before life upon the land? And ages before the scientist dreamed of paleontology we find man last in the series just as he appears today by his remains in the drift instead of in the stratified rocks? Further investigation may explain discrepancies, but what except inspiration can account for these coincidences? --The Advance.

MOUNTAIN GOAT A NUISANCE

Annoy Alaskan Miners by Getting Into Their Tunnels and Eating Their Location Stakes.

Miners in Mineral Gulch, Alaska, are having considerable trouble with mountain goats.

During stormy weather the goats crowd into the tunnels that are being driven on the claims well up on the mountains, and it is only by throwing a dynamite cartridge into the tunnels in the morning that they can be driven out and the contractors get in to go to work.

It is also stated that they are likely to be the cause of considerable litigation among mine owners next year, as they have destroyed a number of location stakes by eating them.

Owing to the fact that alder and willow comprise the only wood in the gulch, nearly all the location stakes are of these woods, which, in the absence of other food, the goats attack eagerly.

A great many of the animals have been killed by the men at work in the gulch, but the number seems to increase rather than diminish.

Salt on French Roads.
As a general rule, the roads in and around French towns are tarred at the commencement of the summer in order to abate the dust nuisance. It has, however, been found that tar, although excellent in the case of macadamized roads, is of little or no value where car lines exist and paved street crossings intersect the roads in every direction, as tarring cannot be carried out on stones. The authorities, basing their action on the well-known hygienic properties of common salt, have made a test of its value in laying the dust. Twenty yards of roadway have been sprinkled liberally with salt and then watered freely. If the results are satisfactory, salt will be used throughout the town of Havre, it being impossible to tar the majority of the streets, as they are paved with rough stone blocks.

Most of Them Are Worse Than Usual and Should Be Killed at Sight.

Our instinct to kill insects at sight is perfectly sound, writes Dr. Woods Hutchinson. Out of the quarter of a million species now known to science, a mere handful are even remotely helpful to man, and most of these only by their power of living upon other and more dangerous insects. On the other hand, thousands of species are actively hostile to man, to his food plants and to his domestic animals. Whole tribes have been swept out of existence by the attack of insects carrying bacilli--as within the last two decades, in central Africa, by the dread "sleeping sickness" carried by the tsetse fly. Whole nations have been weakened and crippled and whole civilizations retarded by another insect-borne disease, malaria.

Indeed, recent investigators have advanced the theory that the historic decline of both Greece and Rome was largely due to the ravages of this disease, brought into Europe by armies returning from wars in Asia and Africa. It may yet come, when we see things in their true perspective, that the warriors of civilized nations will turn from slaughtering one another to battling against our insect enemies.

Turn ever battery of artillery in the world against that angel of the pestilence, the common house fly, and in ten years he would be exterminated, root and branch. With him would go half of our 50,000 deaths in the United States every year from the summer diseases of children, two-thirds of our dysenteries and cholera morbus, and one-fourth of our typhoid, with not a little of our tuberculosis, our tetanus and our boils and blood poisonings.

As He Understood It.

A Chinese boy, who was learning English, came across the passage in his Testament, "We have piped unto you, and ye have not danced," rendered it thus: "We have toot toot to you, what the matter you no jump."

The First Thimble.

The thimble of plain sewing was invented in the year 1634 by a gallant young Dutch goldsmith of Amsterdam, who devised the "thumb-bell"--for this was its original name--in order to protect his sweetheart's thumb tips when she was engaged with a needle and cotton. The "thumb bell" has, however, become a "finger-bell," but in shape only little change has taken place in it since the loving Hans placed the first thimble on the thumb of this lady love.

Readjustment.

After marriage the self-made man often finds it necessary to make extensive alterations. --Life.

Success Apt to Dazzle.

There's a glare about success which is apt to dazzle men's eyes. When we see a man rising in the world a foolish high opinion is formed of his merits. It is said, "What a wonderful man this must be to rise so rapidly!" forgetting that straw, dust, and feathers--things without value or weight--rise the soonest and easiest. It is not always the great and good man who rises rapidly into wealth and notice.

Erratic.

"One objection, it seems to me, against being a great man," said the person who habitually does his thinking along erratic lines, "is that after a statesman has made footprints on the sands of time it keeps him busy trying to obliterate them." --Puck.

Spanish City's Vehicle Tax.

Valencia, Spain, farms out its vehicle tax for a fixed sum per annum to a concessionary, who is allowed to collect under the terms of his contract a sum amounting to about $34.50 for each automobile, plus about $4.06 extra for each seat the car contains. Practically all the machines are kept for only city and park driving.

Not for Her.

One of our smallest business men, a little bit of a fellow--at the dinner table of the house, a few days ago, was jokingly proposing marriage to a fat woman about six times his size. "No," indignantly replied the big woman, "when I marry I don't want to get a man so small that I'll have to shake the bed clothes, in the morning to find him."
